SECRETARY OF COMMERCE IN PERSONAL CHARGE OF FED-ERAL INVESTIGATION OF
EASTLAND DISASTER.

THOMPSON IS ACTIVE

Mayor Promises "to Start Something That Will Shake Up Chicago" Unless Investigators Get Results.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, July 29.—Examination of witnesses in the inquiry of the United States department of commerce under the personal supervision of Secretary William C. Redfield, into the cause of the Eastland disaster, began here today.

Witnesses Summoned.
Witnesses including the officers and crew of the steamer and a long list of other witnesses were summoned to the federal building to tell their versions of the catastrophe.

While this inquiry was progressing
United States District Attorney
Charles F. Clyne, prepared to impanel a federal grand jury to investigate the question of criminal responsibility for the accident.

Assistant State's Attorney Raber, in charge of the drawing of the indictments of the state's attorney's office,
said today, after looking up the law,
that in his opinion indictments on the charges of manslaughter, conspiracy or criminal carelessness could be sustained against four of the six persons ordered held by the coroner's jury.
He is still investigating the jurisdiction of the grand jury over the federal investigators who were ordered held by the coroner's jury. Those over whom the state grand jury has jurisdiction is the opinion of Mr. Raber, are:

State Holds Four.
William H. Hull, vice-president and general manager of the St. Joseph (Chicago) Steamship company, which owned the Eastland.

Walter K. Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company, which chartered the boat.
Harry Pedersen, captain of the Eastland.

Joseph M. Erickson, chief engineer of the Eastland.

Those ordered held to the grand jury by the verdict of the coroner's jury over whom Raber is not yet certain as to jurisdiction, are:

Robert Reid, United States steamboat inspector, Grand Haven, Mich.
Charles C. Eckliss, United States
steamboat inspector, Grand Haven, Mich.

When Reid and Eckliss arrived here
today from Grand Haven they declined to talk. The two went at once to the office of the federal steamboat inspector in the government building.

Question of Jurisdiction.
In the state attorney's office efforts were directed to determine the extent of the jurisdiction of the state grand jury over the persons held by the coroner's jury for grand jury action. Doubt was expressed concerning the state jurisdiction over federal authorities. United States District Attorney Clyne hinted that a number of well known excursion steamers
might have to come off the lake.

Mayor May Start Something.
"I am going to wait until the proper authorities get through, and if they don't do anything, I'll start something that will shake the town up,"
said Mayor Thompson today when asked whether he was going to investigate the Eastland disaster.

"I haven't any time for investigations now. We are too busy burying the dead and taking care of survivors,"
he said.

State's Attorney Hoynes, after confer-ing with his assistant, announced that the state grand jury would continue its inquiry into the Eastland.

Among the witnesses subpoenaed were W. C. Craig, purser on the steamer Theodore Roosevelt, who said to have made charges that James Greenbaum, brother of W. K.
Greenbaum, president of the Indiana Transportation company, took the tickets collected on the Eastland from Craig's locker in his office.

Problem of Raising Hull.
The plan to raise the Eastland by the use of derricks was abandoned
today because of the immense weight of the water within the hull, and work was begun to seal the openings in the hull so that the water might be pumped out and the hull floated.
The engineers in charge of the work said
that it would require several days.

Contributions to the Eastland relief fund today reached $260,000, according to James Simpson, chairman of relief committee.

Headquarters of the American Red cross were established at the city and preparations were made to give immediate relief to all in want.

The body of a man supposed to be William Gerewitz, a victim of the Eastland disaster, was taken from the scene today, nearly four miles from the scene of the accident. The body was caught in a net stretched across the channel.

Funeral services for the last of the identified dead were held today.
About four of the 332 bodies recovered up to noon have been identified.

Begin Federal Inquiry.
Congressional efforts to place the responsibility for the capsizing of the steamer Eastland in the Chicago river
last Saturday, got under way today with the convening of the federal grand jury and the opening of the inquiry under the direction of Secretary of Commerce Redfield. Plans for these inquiries were completed at conferences which lasted all night.

CAPTAIN PEDERSEN TELLING HIS STORY TO STATE'S ATTORNEY

Left to right: M. F. Sullivan, E. J. Fleming and Capt. Henry Pedersen.

Captain Pedersen of the Eastland is shown being quizzed in Chicago by members of State's Attorney MacLay Hoynes staff. Captain Pedersen later was called as a witness by the coroner's jury. He refused to testify after State's Attorney MacLay Hoynes said: "You made a statement in my office and I don't think that you should testify here, as you may be indicted for manslaughter."

of the bureau of investigation, went over the evidence presented to the grand jury and selected the witnesses who will be presented. Among the first of these will be William H. Hull, general manager of the company owning the Eastland, who arrived in Chicago this morning in response to a subpoena. Indictments placed upon six sections of the federal laws are planned, it was given out after the conference.

The first witnesses called before the steamboat inspection service investigation were Captain Westcott, supervisor of inspection for this district, and inspectors Eckliss and Reid
of Grand Haven.

The county jury which was adjourning yesterday, following a conference between Secretary Redfield and State's Attorney Hoynes, was recon-vened this morning. The report of the coroner's jury recommended that six persons be held.

Recommended Six Indictments.
The charge of manslaughter was recommended by the coroner's jury against William H. Hull, representative of the company owning the Eastland; Harry Pedersen, captain of the Eastland; Joseph Erickson, chief engineer; Walter K. Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company, which chartered the Eastland; Robert T. Reid and Charles C. Eckliss, steamboat inspectors of Grand Haven, Mich. The jury declared that the Eastland was "both improperly constructed for the service employed and improperly loaded, operated and maintained," and that the parties named are responsible.

An investigation of the circumstances of the construction of the boat was recommended "to ascertain if there can be found legal methods
by which the construction can be held accountable."

State's Attorney Hoynes will decide today how far the coroner's jury can proceed in view of Secretary Redfield's recommendation yesterday that the state lacks jurisdiction over federal inspectors located in another state. The solution of this question will have a great deal to do with determining the extent to which the county jury will follow the instructions of the coroner's jury.

When Reid and Eckliss arrived here

FAMINE CONTINUES TO MENACE PEOPLE IN MEXICAN CAPITAL

United States to Make Demands Upon Carranza and Zapata to Allow Provision Shipment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, July 29.—So serious has the food shortage become in Mexico City that the United States will make immediate representation to Carranza and Zapata urging that provisions be permitted to get through the starving people in the capital.
Stories of starving conditions have reached the state department under date of July 25.

General Carranza cabled his Washington agency today that his forces,
after six hours' fighting, had captured Patucha and routed the Villa column
which was working south to reinforce Zapata forces near Mexico City.

the army headquarters in the field
where they talked with Emperor Wilhelm, sent for James W. Gerard, the American ambassador to Germany to-important bearing on future developments in relations between Germany and the United States.

JAPANESE MINISTER RESIGNS PORTFOLIO

Viscount Oura Quits Following Sena-

mentary Election Investigation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tokyo, July 29.—Viscount Kanetaka
Oura, the Japanese minister of justice, suddenly resigned his portfolio
today. The minister's action, following as it does the investigation instituted by the minister of justice into the bribery charges growing out of the parliamentary election last March,
has caused a great sensation throughout Japan. The case involves several members of the cabinet and the imperial diet.

Count Shigekuni Okuma, the premier, reported the situation to Emperor Yoshihito, who sanctioned the resignation of Viscount Oura.

The investigation into the charge of bribery growing out of the March election, resulted in the arrest yesterday of K. Hayashiga, who had been chief secretary of the lower house for twenty years. The arrest of Hayashiga is said to be connected with the charge against Viscount Oura, who is alleged to have received a present of $500 from a candidate for membership in the house.

Boston, Mass., July 29.—Six hundred

EXPERT ADVISES U. S. BUSINESS MEN

Thomas Mott Osborne, warden of Sing Sing, announced he would leave the prison late today. The warden is opposed to capital punishment and has been in the prison during an execution. Deputy Warden Johnson will have charge of the execution of Becker and of Samuel Haynes,
a negro, who will probably be electrocuted a few minutes before Becker.

New York, July 29.—Supreme Court Justice John Ford handed down a decision at ten o'clock last night denying Charles Becker's appeal for a third trial.

When informed of the court's decision at Albany Governor Whitman declared the prisoner must be electrocuted Friday.

The execution is set for 5:45 a. m.
"It was the only thing the court
could do," said Whitman. "Becker
is guilty and the story he offered as new evidence was known to him
at both trials. It was known to me, too, and would have been very damaging evidence for Becker if I could have produced it."

"I had the slightest doubt about the guilt of Becker at this moment I would pardon him. I am sorry for any man who is about to die, but there is nothing I can do for Becker."

The governor does not expect Becker to make any graft exposure
before he goes to his death.

During the last few days the Governor has been flooded with letters from women in every part of the state. These letters speak of Beckers have pleaded with the governor to save Becker for that reason.

Justice Ford said he had come to a decision on Wednesday night, but that he wanted to review every available precedent in cases of this kind before he decided. He also called in Chief Justice M. W. Bourke Cockran,

LITTLE HOPE REMAINS

Preparation Under Way at Ossining
for Execution Friday Morning
Following Denial of New Trial.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Albany, N. Y., July 29.—Mrs. Charles Becker arrived here at 11:30 today to make a final plea to Governor Whitman for her husband's life. Mrs.
Becker did not learn until after her arrival of the governor's departure from the city. She said her plans were uncertain.

Governor Whitman and Major
Moore, his military secretary, left Albany this morning by automobile for Camp Whitman, near Fishkill, to review the state troops encamped there.
Before leaving Governor Whitman received a telegram from Mrs. Becker asking for an interview. He said he would receive her on his return, which will be about 6:30 this evening.

No Plea for Mercy.
The general belief at the executive chambers today was that Mrs. Becker, whose husband is to die tomorrow in Sing Sing prison, would not make a plea for mercy to Governor Whitman.

Governor Whitman had nothing to add today to his brief statement of last night saying that in denying a new trial for Becker, Justice Ford had taken the only step possible under the circumstances.

In other quarters it is believed that a plea for mercy would change the executive's attitude. He is very positive regarding Becker's guilt. The fact which became public after Justice
Ford handed down his decision that Becker had offered to plead guilty to second degree murder convinced the governor of his belief based on information that no injustice will be done
in executing the former lieutenant.

As a result of worry over the Becker case, the governor is said to be nearly exhausted. He has followed every move as closely as any of the attorneys and his appearance shows plainly the effect of his hours of study and worry.

Becker Bears Up Well.
Ossining, New York, July 29.—
Charles Becker, former New York
police lieutenant, condemned to die
tomorrow for instigating a murder of Herman Rosenthal, gambler, was reported to be bearing up well today
under the realization that virtually all hope of his escaping the electric chair had passed.

Less than an hour after Becker received word that Supreme Court Justice Ford had denied his appeal for a third trial, the condemned man threw himself on his cot. Becker lay with his face to the wall and said he did not sleep a wink last night.

Becker arose at seven this morning. After breakfast he was taken from his cell while the final preparations for his execution were made.
Becker declined to see his cellmates and his family. He found all of his clothing personal belongings, and even the few furnishings of the cell had been removed.
On a new cot lay a thin black suit,
white shirt with stiff collar and a pair of black stockings and soft felt slippers were also provided. The left leg of the trousers was not slit when Becker donned the clothes as the slitting is done just before a condemned man is led to the execution
chamber.

Father Cashes, the prison champian, and Becker's spiritual adviser, was expected to spend considerable time with the condemned man today and tonight. Father Cashes will also accompany Becker to the death
chamber.

Wife is Expected.
Mrs. Helen Becker, wife of the condemned man, was expected to arrive today, to spend the last hours allowed with her husband. Other members of Becker's family were expected to arrive later.

department after abolishing all direct appropriations.

The assembly concurred in the Hansen bill creating a state engineering department.

Passage was to the Crosby direct marking bill.

Save Mill Tax.
By a four to one vote the Senate
killed an Elgson bill repealing
the mill tax for the benefit of the University and normal schools and substituted direct appropriations.

Without a roll call the Bennett bill to remove the president of the University from the board of regents was killed.

The civil service appropriation bill carrying $22,000 annually was passed.
The senate voted down an amendment reducing it to $10,000.

When the Smith bill increasing compensation of members of the legislature came up it went over when Senator Ackley offered a substitute. This provides that the salary shall remain at $500 as long as the session keeps within 100 days,
but if it runs over that limit, each member shall forfeit ten dollars for each day in session.

SCOTT LEADS WHITE SOX TO VICTORY OVER BOSTON

Boston, Mass., July 29.—Chicago opened up the series with Boston yesterday when Scott pitched and batted. The White Sox to victory over the Boston Red Sox by a score of 1 to 0. Not only did Scott hold the leaders harmless for nine innings but with his own bat drove in the run that brought the game by the narrowest margin possible. Although the hitting was confined to five safe blows on each, the pitchers were wild enough to walk players. Six double plays were made, and at intervals it looked as if the Red Sox were going to count off Scott. It was the third when Schalk singled and was sacrificed to second. Scott brought the little catcher home with a clean single to right. Sensational sliding was done by Eddie Collins and Felsch which staved defeat off for the Sox in three different innings. One fan, W. E. Conman, of Everett, Massachusetts, died of heart disease during one of the exciting innings. Give to Relief Fund.

MORRIS MILLER

Tad Meredith, the marvelous middle distance runner of the University of Pennsylvania, the only man who ever won the half-mile and quarter-mile events in one championship track meeting in modern athletics, is going to attempt the unprecedented task of getting two world's records at standard distance in one meet. The marvelous Penn man is training himself at present, which means that he will get back to the form of 1912, when he was the Olympic star, and says that he believes he will break both the quarter-mile and half-mile records in the Amateur Athletic Union championships at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco in August. Meredith now holds the world's half-mile record at 1:52 1/2, which he made as a school boy in 1912 while competing at Stockholm on the American team in the Olympic games. The world's quarter-mile record of 47 4/5 seconds, on a circular track, held by Maxey Long, is Meredith's other aim, and the Penn flyer has already run within a fifth second of this a half dozen times.

The government crusade to stamp out this baseball pool game meets with approval from all true friends of baseball.

Ad Wolgast is getting careless. He is to box Jake Daubert at Oklahoma. The National league averages show Daubert can hit like a house afire.

Rivals cannot hope to the Comiskey; they give their special days, and along comes Comiskey with three days in one: Walsh day, flag day and ladies' day.

The Boston scorers are surely kind to Johnny Evers as a fielder. If anything bounces off his shin, or he paws a ball around the infield, the scorers always make it a hit, on the ground that Evers is still too lame to bend easily or get after the ball as rapidly as usual. He ought to field 300 of the season, if all the scorers were as lenient as those in Boston.

Herbert L. Jilison of Pinehurst, N. C. is guilty of perpetrating this one. When Francis Oulmet was at Pinehurst he wore a sweater on which was the letter "W" for Woodford, his home club. One day he passed two pretty girls. "What's the letter on his sweater?" asked one of them. "Why, for Womet, of course," replied the other.

SCRANTON FIELDER PLAYS GREAT GAME

George Maisel.

The Cincinnati Nationals and the Detroit and New York teams of the American league are now bidding for the services of George Maisel, left fielder of the Scranton team, who is putting up a better article of baseball than any other fielder ever did in the New York State league. He is fielding and hitting like a big league.

HEAVY HITTING OUTFIELD OF THE BOSTON RED SOX

These three men are doing their full share to keep the Boston Red Sox ahead in the American league race. They are distinguishing themselves at the bat and in the field. Lewis is in the left field, Tris Speaker at center and Hooper in right field.

Detroit is drawing well. Not only are all the week-day games well attended, but fans occupy the bleachers, while the grandstand is packed. The Michigan metropolis is rapidly developing into one of the best cities in the circuit, a wonderful change having come over it in a rather short time.

Clark Griffith has a new idea of how the players in the American league should be handled in the future. He contends that there should be no sale of players from one club to the other; that whenever a club wants to get rid of a player it should notify the other seven clubs of its intended move and the player be chosen by lot and a figure fixed by the rules paid for him, not to be a high figure, either. Griffith's idea is still in the rough, but he intends to get it smoothed out by the time winter rolls around and then present it to the league, with every reason for believing that his scheme, or one similar to it, will be adopted.

Orville Overall, after working out with the Salt Lake Bees and being offered a contract, decided not to accept after a conference with Ed Maier of Los Angeles. Overall has a good position with Maier's brewing company and Maier advised him to stay out of the game and stick to his job.

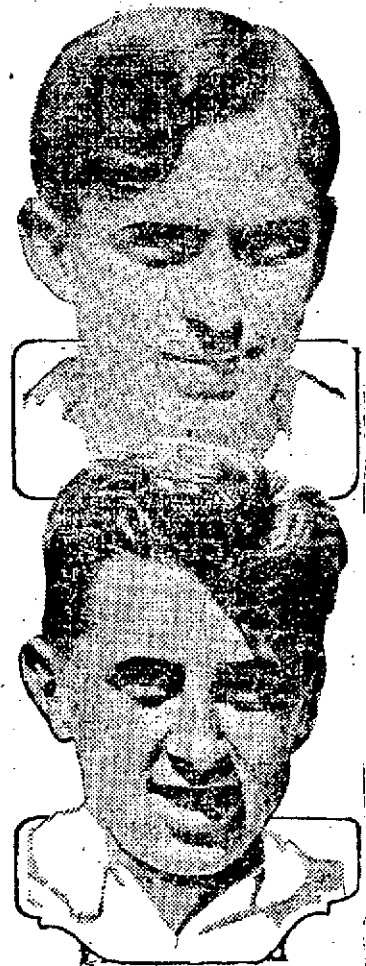

Larry McLean has lost his little outlaw job in the Delaware County league, the Media club having cut him off the payroll for "incompetency and failure to keep in playing condition." The Feds seem the only haven for Larry now.

Thackeray's Twopenny Tart.
This Thackeray story is told by the late Charles Brookfield in his "Random Reminiscences." "Early in their married life," he writes, "my father and mother lived in lodgings in Jeremy street (he was curate at St. James' church at the time). One evening he unexpectedly brought home Thackeray for dinner and introduced him to my mother. She was rather overwhelmed by the knowledge that there was nothing in the house but a cold shoulder of mutton. It was too late to contrive anything more elaborate, so to give an air to the table she sent her maid to a neighboring pastry cook's for a dozen tartlets of various kinds. 'Which of these may I give you?' she inquired in due course of Thackeray. 'Thank you,' Mrs. Brookfield said; 'I'll have a twopenny one.'"

The Listener.
Years ago some one said that "a good listener is preferred to a poor talker." And every one who has observed good listeners or listened to poor talkers have come to the conclusion that the fellow knew what he was saying. There is quite as much art in listening as there is in talking. Simply to remain quiet does not signify that one is listening. To listen means to pay attention. It implies that one is learning something. It is in line with the words of the wag concerning the owl, which runs something like this: A wise old owl lived in an oak. The more he heard the less he spoke; The less he spoke the more he heard. Why are we not like that wise old bird? —Dayton News.

McLAUGHLIN WORKS HARD TO WIN BACK HONORS IN SINGLES

New photos of McLaughlin (top) and Williams.

Maurice E. McLaughlin is in the east again, his purpose being to compete in the lawn tennis tournaments in that section of the country. He had not originally intended to go east at this time. His keen desire to secure again the holding of the national singles championship held by R. Norris Williams 2d probably accounts for his change in plans.

Goats in Switzerland.
In Switzerland if a boy plagues a goat he may be fined and sent to jail. If a person meets a goat on a path and drives the animal aside he may be arrested. If a goat enters the yard of a person not its owner and is hit with a club or stone the person guilty of the offense must pay 30 cents. If the engineer of a railroad train sees a goat on the track he must stop the train until the animal can be coaxed away.

THE GOOD JUDGE DROPS IN AT THE NEW TOBACCO STORE.

DEALERS all along the line say their best trade is using the Real Tobacco Chew.

It's a cleaner chew, a better chew and once a man discovers it, the old ordinary tobacco doesn't suit him any more

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED!

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC.

It was to be expected that the Eastland disaster would bring forth arguments in favor of the Seamen's law from various quarters that have been instrumental in securing its passage. It would not be just to say that various provisions of the enactment are not worth consideration, but the law in its entirety is faulty and will ultimately drive the shipping interests from the American flag to the banner of some other nation, and that just at a time when every effort is being made to increase the shipping facilities of the American merchant marine.

Senator La Follette, whose name the law bears, takes occasion to state that the Eastland disaster could not have happened if this law had been in effect now. He does not state the evidence of the law as viewed by shippers and vessel owners, nor the anxiety of the men all over the nation who are earnestly advocating that something be done to alleviate the danger of the situation.

The Christian Science Monitor, published in Boston, on the Atlantic coast, sends its message to the Pacific coast in the following editorial in the face of La Follette's statement.

"It is possible that the federal authorities at Washington, recognizing the seriousness of the situation, and realizing the necessity for action on the part of congress, may use their influence favorably in an effort to postpone the intended hauling down of the stars and stripes on the Pacific next November when the Pacific seamen's law goes into effect. It will be remembered that the Pacific Mail and other American companies in the Asiatic service declared some time since that in order to avoid great loss, by reason of the operation of the law they would discontinue sailings. Under existing conditions, this would give Japanese companies a practical monopoly of the Oriental American sea trade. The Pacific Mail Steamship company, it has been intimated, would dispose of its vessels in the most advantageous manner possible, and Japanese and Chinese interests have been mentioned as concerned in their probable sale.

It has not, of course, been desirable, aside from all other considerations, that competition in Pacific transportation should be done away with, and, consequently, news to the effect that a Chinese syndicate for the purchase of the Pacific Mail fleet with the view to the establishment of a Chinese line in competition with the Japanese lines, has been received in the United States with satisfaction. It is held that if the American lines must go out of business it will be to the decided advantage of the United States if a Chinese company shall take them over.

"The whole matter rests on the cost of operation. Under the La Follette law, seamen must be paid much higher wages than Japanese companies pay at present or a Chinese company would need to pay. Under the La Follette law, also, the general standard of ship operation is raised to a level that means, as the American companies claim, not only the wiping out of their profits, but actual and heavy losses in operation should they undertake to comply with its provisions. The American companies contend that they should not be expected to bear the burden of maintaining very much higher standards than their competitors, and that the United States government desires to have these standards introduced and maintained it should grant subsidies or subventions to the companies affected.

"There is, of course, the usual opposition to the extension of government aid to private enterprise and it is held in some quarters that if the American merchant marine cannot be made self-sustaining it will be better, in the Pacific trade at least, to allow the Japanese and Chinese to operate the ships. Meanwhile there are indications that the Washington government, pending the meeting of congress, will strive to hold the situation in statu quo. In such cases there is nearly always some available means of delaying action, and it is not improbable that the operation of the La Follette law may be suspended in order that the national legislature shall give the whole subject of American shipping calm and mature consideration. This would seem to be the sensible course."

WANT GOOD STREETS.

There should be manipulation of the requirements for the proposed street improvement. There should be no idea of saving on the initial cost by using any inferior article that has not been severely tested and stood up as well as a guaranteed product. It is not economy to save four or five hundred dollars at first and then spend fifteen hundred dollars in repairs in a few years. Janesville wants good streets and is willing to pay for them. It is a mistaken economy to use a cheap grade of material and expect as good results as if a standard quality was demanded and required. Lobbies can do wonderful things in some cases and use all sorts of convincing arguments, but results are what the public want and as they foot the bills they should get what they demand.

THE RIGHT STEP.

The men who proposed the Stempel bill in the present session of the legislature did not fully realize what it meant. They figured that if they could legitimize some hundreds of saloons in Milwaukee they would be doing a good thing. The governor, however, looked further than the end of his nose and insisted that certain restrictions be placed in the bill. He refused to sign the bill as originally passed and the legislature received it back, went him one better than he proposed, increased the ratio of saloons in new territory of one to every five hundred of the population, changing the old Baker law from two hundred and fifty to five hundred, and also placed power in the hands of the chief of police in all cities of the first class as to whom should receive licenses.

Immediately following the passage of this law, its signature by the governor, the chief of police of Milwaukee announced that in the future all entertainments in saloons in Milwaukee must be ended. There is to be no more "Ladies' Entrance" or "Family Entrance" signs, and he gives the applicants for license until Monday to comply with this requirement. Then the new licenses will be issued.

It is a movement in the right direction this elimination of entertainment usually of questionable character in "resorts" and should raise the standard of the dram shops. No more singing is to be indulged in and they will be shops where liquors are sold and not for questionable entertainments. Good concert music will not be objected to, however.

The five hundred population requirement is one of the hardest blows that the liquor interests have received. Of course none of the saloons now in existence will be affected by this requirement, but new ones will. Then the provision is so interpreted that in case a city should vote "no license" take Janesville or Beloit, for instance, and abolish the saloons for a short period, voting was later, the number of saloons would be limited to the five hundred population basis and not the old two hundred and fifty count as at present.

Perhaps the Stempel bill giving license to the Milwaukee saloons has all right in the eyes of the law, righting a wrong that was unconsciously committed, but the amendments to the original law are such that it makes it worth while to have such a statute on our law books in the interest of progress in handling the much-vexed liquor traffic question.

They are having a hard time at Madison securing enough members of the legislature to remain in Madison long enough to constitute a quorum to complete the business of the session. After working hard, they should remain on duty a short time longer and finish up their labors.

Summer campers, auto owners, resort proprietors and cottagers at various lakes and up-river homes do not appreciate this weather in the least. They would prefer the "good old summer time" once more even if the time is out of date.

Colonel Roosevelt says that Hiram Johnson is his choice for president. If he told the real truth and nothing but the truth he would say that Johnson is his second choice. No, Teddy, it will not strike your nor Johnson's way this time.

One exchange suggests that if the investigators wish to find the real culprits in the Eastland disaster they must look for the grafters connected with the excursion game.

AMERICAN SHIP LEELANAW, SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

The Leelanaw.

Destruction of the Leelanaw, an American freighter, by a German submarine on July 25 does not put any new angle into America's controversy with Germany, is the belief of official Washington, following reports that the Leelanaw's crew was permitted to reach safety. The Leelanaw was bound for Belfast with a cargo of flax. Germany claims that she has a right to sink American vessels as long as she agrees to pay damages.

This little lady is a rare type of the Albinos. She was captured in a wild state in the jungles of Burmah. The red coruscules in her blood were turned white by the constant use of American breakfast food when a child. She received her education in the public schools of Burnips Corners and can write calling cards with her toes. Those desiring to purchase photographs or converse with the little lady will find her a very interesting person."

"Now, we will direct your attention to the elevated platform on the right, if you please, where it gives us great pleasure to announce the world renowned Professor Gonzolavitz and his famous sacred educated cow of India, Winnie, by name. Winnie, speak to the ladies (jab her in the slats, professor)."

"Winnie—Moo-O-O-O."
"Winnie says she likes the ladies very much, very much."

"Right over here now, if you please, where we have on exhibition Stretcho, the famous rubber skinned man, who appears by special permission of the Rubber Trust. Stretcho, you will observe, need wear no suspenders, as nature has provided him with a marvelous substitute. He has on sale souvenirs in the shape of handsome garters and photographs of himself."

"I must say you've got a pretty lot of citizens to allow themselves to be charged at the rate of 5 cents a mile from here down to the junction on a miserable one-horse branch road," said the shoe drummer blithely.

"I'd like to call your attention to one fact before you go on us," answered the ticket agent calmly, "and that is that while it may be 5 cents a mile, it's only 35 cents an hour."

RISKED LIFE TO WIN WAGER

British Officer in Peninsular War Braved French Bullets to Make Good His Bet.

In all armies life has often been risked, and sometimes lost, in the attempt to win a trumpery wager. During the Peninsular war, when the British army was in front of the enemy, Colonel Mellich appeared mounted upon a wretched steed, which provoked the derision of his fellow officers.

"It isn't worth five pounds," one of them remarked.

"I'll bet you fifty pounds I get over forty for him," said the colonel.

"Done!" exclaimed the other.

The hare-brained colonel immediately rode off in the direction of the enemy, who, of course, fired upon him. Nothing daunted, the colonel continued to advance, until his horse was killed under him, when he hastily freed himself and returned to the British lines, where he promptly claimed the wager.

The money was handed over to him by the other unlucky officer, for the government then allowed a sum of forty-five pounds for every officer's horse killed in action.—London Tit-Bits.

PROGRESS MADE IN ORIENT

Augustus D. Curtiss Tells Electric Club of Advance Made in Electricity in Far East.

"The advanced stage of electricity seen in the orient was one of the greatest surprises I ever had, especially the progress noted in Japan. Even in remote places seldom reached by tourists we found electric plants with the most modern improvements, and, though the machinery was mostly American make or American type the orientals had mastered all of the details of operation."

This statement prefaced an address made by Augustus D. Curtiss at the Electric club's first fall meeting, held at Chicago the other day. He recently returned from an oriental trip. "Being an electrician and interested in electricity," said Mr. Curtiss, "it was only natural for me to investigate the progress made in those countries, and it is truly wonderful. In America opticians and illuminating engineers only recently have worked out the problem of indirect lighting—that is, the system of reflection from the lamp to the ceiling and then down—and imagine my surprise to find much of this lighting in the orient, especially in the larger cities of Japan."

ARREST DR. DUDLEY ON ARSON COMPLAINT

DEPUTY FIRE MARSHAL END SWEARS OUT WARRANT CHARGING DAY-TIME ARSON.

GOES BEFORE COURT

Case is Held Open Until Saturday By the Court, the Defending Attorney Jeffries Being Absent.

Chief of Police Champion this morning served a warrant charging arson on Dr. Dudley, a state's prison officer, on the morning of the fire in his office in the Hayes block, and Dr. Dudley was arrested before Judge H. J. Maxfield in the municipal court shortly after ten o'clock to answer the charge.

The warrant was sworn out by Deputy Fire Marshal William E. End yesterday, when it was placed in the hands of Chief Champion. The complaint filed in the court alleged that Dr. Dudley feloniously and maliciously set fire to his home at 328 South Main street during the day time with the intent to injure the insurance on the building to the amount of ten thousand dollars. The fire, it will be remembered, was discovered early on the morning of July 19.

When Chief Champion served the warrant, Dr. Dudley accompanied the chief and was taken to the station. Dr. Dudley was taken to the station and the case was held open until Saturday. Dr. Dudley, the court considered the motion and as it met with the consent of the prosecuting lawyers, the case was held open until Saturday.

When the question of bail came up, the court allowed Dr. Dudley to claim his own bail bond for one thousand dollars. It was first suggested that a bail of fifteen hundred dollars be placed, but on the plea of the defending lawyer, Mout, the bail was reduced five hundred dollars. Immediately afterward Dr. Dudley left the court room for a conference with his attorneys.

Arrest Expected.

The warrant for the arrest of Dr. Dudley has been expected for the past week, but the state agent, End, and the district attorney's office during the investigation, held off the arrest until they had thoroughly examined into the case. It is estimated that a dozen witnesses have been examined during the past ten days, and both Dr. Dudley and his daughter, Mrs. Delia Heath, were placed on the stand, the result of which was that the day following the fire, Dr. Dudley is known, made a trip to Kenosha, where Dr. Dudley is reported to have testified that on the day and night preceding the fire, he was in the city and was placed on the case and every step of the investigation has been carefully guarded.

What amount of evidence pointing that the blaze was incendiary, if not arson, is not known, but it is certain that the warrant would not have been issued unless there is believed a possibility of conviction.

The cars of gasoline, including the wash boiler and a number of fruit jars that were found by the firemen in the street, are still being held at the fire station. It is estimated that one of the best pieces of evidence in the hands of the state is the candles found in the house, including the one which was discovered on the day following the fire. The complaint makes no mention of Dr. Dudley's daughter, Mrs. Heath.

Heavy Insurance.

It was learned from an insurance agent that Dr. Dudley carried ten thousand dollars insurance on the house, which is far above its assessed value. The insurance company, on the other hand, is estimated to have been paid on the contents, and five hundred dollars was also carried on contents by Mrs. Delia Heath. The complaint makes no mention of Dr. Dudley's daughter, Mrs. Heath.

SCHALLER WINNER IN SECOND ROUND

Janesville Golfer Also Hangs up Exceptional Score in State Championship Events.

Milwaukee, July 29.—Al Schaller, Janesville Siniissippi club golfer, made a fancy score in the consolation event here this afternoon on the Blue Mound course in the state championship tournament, when he defeated B. G. Bradley, the Blue Mound crack, three up and two to go. Schaller scored seventy-six.

Early play indicated that Schaller was playing in choice score with excellent chances of being to the front when he completed his second round this afternoon. His morning card was seventy-eight and this with his handicap placed his well to the front.

In the director's cup event F. S. Baines of Janesville was defeated by H. S. Fuller, Jr., five up and four to play.

Al Schaller missed the semi-finals by one stroke. His score of 76 was just too low to admit him to the pairings for today. His opponent, John Reid, Jr., of Racine, with a score of 75, will meet Fred E. Kwaska, Blue Mound's chief hope, Reid was one down and two to go and Schaller missed a two foot putt for a half on the seventeenth, then lost the eighteenth.

In today's play F. S. Baines and J. P. Baker were paired for the director's cup match.

IN LINE WITH "DE QUALITY"

Mr. Eli Brown Felt Himself Entitled, Considering His Position, to Letters After His Name.

Eli Brown, an impressive ebony figure in his long, black, clerical coat and collar—gift of the rector of St. James'—had come in answer to a post card of mine, asking him to call and whitewash my back fence.

"I've done moved, Miss Ma'y," he said, when he explained to me that he could not undertake the work that day, as a noon service at St. James' necessitated his presence at the organ bellows, "and I reckon I'll jes' leave my card so you can know what to send for me when yer wants me ag'in."

With an expression of dignified gratification he unfolded a scrap of church announcement leaflet, which he had pulled out of his vest pocket, and handed me a card with the words:

Eli Brown, E. O. E., 50 Penchurk street.
"What do these letters stand for?" I asked.

"Why, Miss Ma'y, all de quality in our congregation has letters after der names. Doctor Price he has D. D.; Doctor Simmonds has M. D., and deros LL. D. for some of 'em, and U. S. N. for dat Yankee officer; and coase I naturally has 'em, too."

"But what do they mean?" I insisted.

WHEN POLAND WAS DIVIDED

Frederick the Great of Prussia and Catherine of Russia the Leaders in the Movement.

The first partition of Poland was actively commenced under the terms of a compact between Frederick the Great of Prussia and Catherine of Russia, in which Austria was invited to take part. About one-third of Poland was seized on the occasion. The second partition in 1793 and the third in 1795 practically completed the dismemberment of the ancient kingdom, and after the congress of Vienna nothing was left of Poland but a memory.

Before the first partition the kingdom stretched from the Carpathians to the Baltic, a distance of 600 miles. Germany, Austria and Russia alike sought to stamp out the language, literature and national spirit of the Poles, but with little success. The attempt to force school children to adopt the German tongue resulted in many "strikes" of the pupils, and the Poles were so determined in their attitude that all the governments involved were forced to make compromise.

of Forcing Complete Russian Surrender.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

London, July 29.—Unable to advance in the west, the plan to eliminate France from the conflict completely overturned, Germany has turned to Russia in an effort to do against France. This latest effort is on a much more extensive scale than that of a year ago against France; it is the most tremendous military effort the world has ever seen. But its success or failure will be measured, from a military viewpoint, not by whether Warsaw is or is not captured, but by whether the Russian army does or does not escape the jaws of the German chubser.

The principal sectors of attack may be divided into three sectors: (a) The Narow sector, northwest of Warsaw, between the Wkra and the Narow; (b) the Bug sector, west of Warsaw, along the Grojec-Blonie-Cielanow line; and (c) the Lublin sector, southeast of Warsaw, along the line of the railroad from Avangard to Chelm.

It is along these sectors that the brunt of the German attack is being delivered, and success in any sector will probably mean the retirement of the Russians from the entire line of the Bug. The objective of the army attacking in the first sector (a) is, as it has been since the early days of the war, the Warsaw-Petrograd railway, one of the three great railroad systems centering in and pivoting the city. The progress of the Teutons in this sector has not been particularly marked, and in itself, therefore, constitutes no great element of danger. Przasnysz, which was evacuated by the Russians last week, is the center of this sector, but its fall does not seem to have opened to any extent the German way through.

Von Hindenburg Gaining.
Along the second sector, however, the sector of the Vistula, von Hindenburg has made notable progress, and it is his operations more than those of the armies supporting his flanks that constitute the greatest present menace to the Polish capital. His forces have reached Novo Georgievsk, at the confluence of the Vistula and the Bug, and are, at the latest report, battling for the bridgehead which is guarded by the fort of Novo. Prior in the eastern angle of the Vistula and the Bug, and by the Russian forces south of the Vistula.

The attack is, in its very element, a direct frontal attack, and is strongly entrenched lines, but it nevertheless is breaking down all resistance and moving slowly forward. The Vistula is the most difficult military obstacle and, ipso facto, the most effective defensive screen in eastern Europe. It is broad, rapid, carries a great volume of water, and with its steep banks makes a readily defensible obstacle. But the German army is astride it, and not until Warsaw is taken will this feature be of value to the Russians and then only to prevent a further German advance.

In the third sector, that of Lublin, entire military interest must center in the railroad from Ivanoorod to Chelm. Along this line the pressure is a great as along the Vistula section, and while undoubted gains are recorded, and gains of importance, too, the railroad itself, as far as the official reports show, has not yet been reached or cut. If it is reached it is extremely doubtful if Warsaw can hold out.

Although the particular section of this road between Lublin and Chelm is the most difficult for both Austrians and Germans to attack, due to the character of the country across which their artillery must be transported and the absence of roads which would facilitate this transportation, the reasons why the attack is being made along this sector are simple.

Top, Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian army, and General von Hindenburg; bottom, General von Mackensen.

Emperor William is on the eastern front, where he is assisting in the direction of the three gigantic armies under Field Marshal von Hindenburg on the west, Field Marshal von Mackensen on the south and General von Buelow on the north.

According to the present arrangements, the Kaiser and Kaiserin will ride at the head of the Germanic armies as they make solemn entry into Warsaw should the city fall soon.

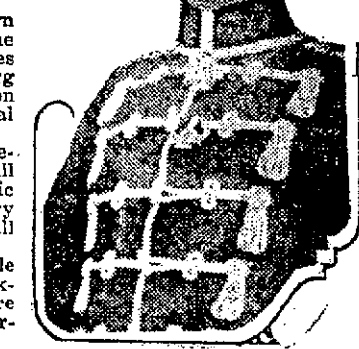

Surging forward with irresistible force, the three armies that are taking part in the Warsaw drive are breaking down, one by one, the barriers defending the Polish capital.

Germans Hope to Take Army.
In the first place, the object of the combined German drive from the three directions is not only to capture Warsaw, but to cut off and compel the surrender of the Russian troops occupying the huge salient which has Warsaw as a center. Were the Teuton attack to be made against the Teuton to the east, where the attacking troops would have behind them the excellent system of Galician railways radiating from Lemberg, he would be far from Warsaw to close in upon it in time to reap the benefits of his success. Moreover, to attack Kovel would mean that the supply columns would have to skirt around the Bug in an arc as the banks of that river are lined with marsh belts which make its crossing a matter of grave difficulty. The Germans are, therefore, taking the shortest and most direct route, and the route which, if they succeed, will be most prolific of results.

Military critics of Europe are almost unanimously of the opinion that Warsaw must fall, and that within a very short time. If it does fall and the Russian army makes good its retreat before it is overwhelmed by the victorious Teutons, what possibilities will the new situation present? Before a suggestion can be attempted, it must be realized that the least fall of Warsaw can mean aside from the capture of an important railroad center and manufacturing city, the retirement of the whole western front of the Russians behind the line of the Vistula and the Bug. The Russian line will then be straightened out and materially shortened by the flitting out of the Warsaw salient. A further German advance could probably, therefore, be checked, provided the Russians' ammunition supply be not too greatly impoverished.

Can Russ Save Army?
But his presupposes a German intention to advance, and these seems to be no logical reason why she should wish to go beyond the line of these rivers. If the Russians make good their retreat it will be perfectly evident that the destruction of the Russian army and its consequent elimination as a fighting force will be an impossibility. The best Germany can hope for will be to neutralize it at least for a while, and cover her else on the eastern front can this be done so effectively as along the line of the Vistula.

The defensive possibilities of the Vistula have been already pointed hundreds of clergymen have voluntarily enlisted in the new armies of Lord Kitchener and recently a decision was reached by the Church of England authorities not to ordain during the war any clerical students of military age who were physically fit and of the prescribed age for military service.

WATER POWER PROJECT STARTS AUSTRALIA TO HARNESS WATERWAYS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Adelaide, South Australia, July 29.—What is hailed as the new and important era in the industrial development of the Australian Commonwealth was the laying at Blanchetown on the river Murray, June 5, of the foundation stone of the first lock of a great system of locks and canals which will harness this great waterway to the better use of the Australian people. The project, together with the water storages at Lake Victoria and Cumbernauld, will provide for irrigation on a huge scale as well as the use of the Murray waterway for trade and commerce.

What the Nile is to Egypt, and the Mississippi is to the United States, the Murray is to Australia. The Murray river system is one of the longest navigable in the world, at times for more than 3,600 miles. For something like half a century the control of its waters has been a vexed question in the politics of the three states most vitally concerned—New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia—and because successive governments have been unable to agree upon a basis of settlement of riparian rights, the potential wealth of the river has been allowed to pour itself unchecked into the sea—a gigantic waste in a continent where the chief desideratum is water. The ceremony at Blanchetown therefore signified an historic event. When carried to completion, the project will open up about 1,500,000 acres for cultivation, and it is estimated will bring

HOLLAND STUDENTS KICK OVER EXERCISING LAWS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Leyden, Netherlands, July 28.—Theological students at Leyden University, the most ancient seat of learning in Holland, object to their omission from the suggested scheme of exercising all the manhood of the Dutch nation as a precautionary measure in case the lowlands should be called upon to defend their territory. An address from these students recently called the attention of the Second Chamber of the Dutch Parliament to this feeling among them. Since then the newspapers have printed dozens of letters from clergymen of various denominations expressing similar views and declaring that it would be casting a slur on them if they were to continue to be released by law from fulfilling their duties as patriotic citizens at a time when their country needed them.

The Dutch theological students were probably moved to make their appeal for incorporation in the army by the reports of the activities of priests and pastors now serving with the various armies engaged in the world war. In France, for instance, there are over 20,000 Catholic clergymen, including several bishops, as well as many Protestant ministers and Jewish rabbis serving in the ranks as active soldiers. Besides large number engaged as chaplains and Red Cross workers. In Italy, 15,000 priests are in the ranks; in Germany numbers of clergymen have taken service; while in the British

WARSAW DRIVE MOST TREMENDOUS MILITARY EFFORT EVER MADE

The German drive on Warsaw is declared to be the most tremendous military effort ever made. Map shows where the German offensive is being launched. The Germans are attempting to break through the Russian defense north, west and east of the Polish capital; from the direction of the Narow, the Vistula, and the Ivanoorod-Chelm railroad.

In an additional population of from 500,000 to 750,000 persons. The cost will be about $21,000,000. Some idea of the extent of the scheme may be gathered from the fact that in South Australia, the Lake Victoria reservoir can be made to store 22,000,000,000 cubic feet of water.

Growth of Judgment
Nobody's judgment is good without development. One who forms the habit of accepting the opinions of others, who allows his path to be marked out for him by interested friends, cannot expect that his judgment will be anything but feeble, like an unused muscle. Only by thinking does one learn to think. Only by deciding does one master the power of wise decision. Judgment must have regular exercise to become worthy of dependence.

Preocious Dementia.
In preocious dementia, which is due to a congenital fault, the individual is either possessed of paranoiac delusions of persecution, or he is apathetic, without energy, and gradually becomes without mind. In the latter subject the diagnosis is not difficult. You see the youth who has been fairly bright gradually losing his intellect. So the process gradually goes on until he becomes merely a human being almost entirely devoid of mind.

ENDORSE STATE AID TO RURAL TEACHERS

Eliminate Educational Qualifications by Amendment to Assembly Bill.

Madison, Wis., July 28.—Aid to rural school teachers without the limitation of additional educational qualifications was endorsed by the assembly last night when that body amended and engrossed the bill. The amendment, which was introduced by Assemblyman Hambrecht, who opposed it because of the elimination of the educational qualification feature, has been reconsidered, and the bill will come up again tomorrow. The original bill provided that rural school teachers having two years' training in a normal or manual training school beyond the regular high school course should be entitled to special state aid of $15 per month the first year, $150 the second year, and $200 the third year they remain in the same rural school. The Hambrecht amendment, which was incorporated, gives special state aid to teachers who have had three years' practical experience in a rural school, the amount being graduated according to the time the teachers remain in the same school district.

Assemblyman Dickie opposed this amendment, claiming it was extravagant. It was favored by Assemblyman Nordman and O'Brien, the former a county superintendent a decade ago, and the latter a school teacher. The assembly reconsidered the vote by which it killed the Leitz plumbing bill, refused to kill it by a vote of 36 to 36, and after amending it sent it to engrossment. It provides that any firm, person or corporation desiring to engage in plumbing installation, or to install plumbing in connection with or dealing in plumbing materials shall be required to have a licensed master plumber in charge. An amendment by Cretney eliminated the word "master" and allows the appointment of any plumber. It was adopted. The bill was opposed by Assemblyman Donnelly, Crosby and Krems, and favored by Assemblymen Winegar, Hart and Hambrecht. There was a long debate over the bill to create a smaller judicial circuit, detaching Sauk county from the present circuit composed of Sauk and Dane counties. Assemblyman Carl Hanson offered data to prove that Judge E. R. Stevens is overworked and that Dane county circuit is overcrowded. Assemblyman Dickie of Sauk county opposed the bill, saying the legislature was forcing a change upon the people to abolish offices and refuse to create new ones. The bill was reconsidered, but no vote was taken on its engrossment.

Germany Able to Conquer New Problems of War As They Came

(By Carl W. Ackerman.)
Berlin, July 29. — In the western campaign Germany met new conditions of modern warfare and overcame them before the enemies were able to do so. In the eastern war area conditions of fighting have prevailed throughout the twelve months, and Germany again has shown that she is as skillful with the old as with the new.

The more valuable territory which has fallen to German arms in this war is Belgium and northern France. These conquered districts are far more wealthy than are the captured Polish and Baltic areas. Yet, without doubt, the chief glories of the German armies have been won in the east. Germany is proud of the year's magnificent record in the west, but it is the march of events in the east that thrills the German people to their very souls. In popular imagination, the might of the Russian Empire was the most disquieting fact of the war. This belief was encouraged by the general feeling that if Germany were to hold her own in the great war, France must be overwhelmed before Russia's mighty millions could be mobilized. But Russia came on before Germany was overwhelmed. Germany had to meet her enemies on two fronts at once. The people of the Empire trembled last summer as Russia's Gordes crept further and further into East Prussia, while the Allies against the western Allies was yet to reach its height. Germany was not afraid of the western campaign, but the fact is, it is privately confessed that the Germans did fear the outcome of the Slavonic rush.

German Victory.
Then, almost over night came the news that the battle of the Mazurian lakes had been fought and had resulted in one of the greatest victories for Germany in all history. Seldom is a nation thrilled even in wartime as Germany was thrilled by the news that Marshal von Hindenburg had cleared East Prussia of the invaders. Nothing that has happened since and nothing that is likely to happen will equal in Germany's estimation the brilliance of von Hindenburg's success. Until the Mazurian battle, Germany was not sure of herself. von Hindenburg gave confidence to his country and demonstrated an absolute superiority over the Russians that the fear of the Slavs vanished as light dispels the terrors of the dark. von Hindenburg turned the light on the Russians and they are now the chief inspiration of the contributors to Germany's humorous weeklies.

Warsaw has not yet fallen, but instead the Germans have captured Russia's great Baltic Port of Libau, which is second in importance only to Warsaw and Riga, as an eastern objective. The Baltic operations, in fact, would be considered a worthy record of the year's warfare against Russia, even if nothing else had been accomplished on that side of Europe. But in fact, the Baltic campaign ranks last in importance among the three great offensives which the Germans have successfully developed against the Slavs since last August.

Advance On Warsaw.
The first of this advance across western Poland to the gates of Warsaw. Germany believes this drive alone, coming after the earlier retreat from Warsaw, is a greater success, judged purely as a military problem, than all the victories that the Allies can claim.

Second in importance among successes against the Slavs is the freeing of Galicia. This campaign is ranked in Germany as an offensive one, differing from the rescue of East Prussia, which was a defensive thrust. The Galician province was most entirely under Russian control when the Germans undertook to rescue it for Austro-Hungary. The offensive campaign developed by Marshal von Mackensen during the last three months is specially praised by German critics, because it the Slavs had so long a time to prepare their defenses. When the Galician operations began, it was becoming the general conclusion of militarist students that a properly entrenched army could not be driven back for any considerable distance. The Germans, however, showed that it could be done.

The winning of Galicia has bound Austro-Hungary closer to the German Empire, and has banished all hope among the Allies of enticing Vienna or Buda Pest into making a separate peace. Fully as important, too, the Galician campaign has been the culminating influence which is preventing the neutral Balkan countries from entering the war. The diplomatic work of maintaining the neutrality of Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece has caused many sleepless nights at the German foreign office in the past months.

Perhaps when the historians begin to write about the events of the past year, they will rank above everything else in importance, the influence which Germany's mighty victories in the east has had on the Balkan states. If the three southeastern neutrals had joined the Allies, earlier in the war, when Russia's strength was at its full, Germany doesn't like to think about the possible consequences.

ADMIRAL FISKE'S FLYING TORPEDO BOAT MAY DESTROY A FLEET; SHIPS CAN BE ATTACKED BY MACHINE IN LAND-LOCKED HARBOR

New photograph of Rear Admiral Fiske and his torpedo-boat plane.

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske's patent for an aero-torpedo boat for delivering submarine torpedoes from airships is attracting nation-wide attention. The Fiske flying torpedo-boat would make it possible to attack a fleet within a land-locked harbor. Admiral Fiske contemplates equipping a monster aeroplane. Swooping down at a distance of five sea miles from the object of attack, the aircraft would drop its deadly missile into the water just as it would have been launched from a destroyer. The impact sets the torpedo's machinery in motion and it goes at a rate of more than forty knots an hour toward the enemy ship.
